GENERAL ACTIVITIES

THE RIGHT HELP AT THE RIGHT TIME

The right help at the right time, is the theme of a wide-ranging programme taking place across Mid and West Wales for National Safeguarding Week, commencing 11th November 2024. The programme has been co-ordinated by CWMPAS and CYSUR, the Regional Safeguarding Board, and this year has been designed in response to some of the safeguarding themes and issues that have emerged across the region in the last year, including learning identified from child and adult practice reviews.

A highlight of the week includes a conference for multi-agency practitioners, taking place at the Medrus Centre, Aberystwyth University. This will include presentations and workshops from key note speakers and will include information on early intervention approaches, trauma recovery models, alongside input from service users and those with lived experience.

During the week, we will also host a variety of events and webinars that will seek to raise awareness and highlight issues that affect children and adults at risk. This includes a webinar covering myth busting in information sharing, in multi-agency safeguarding work. There will also be an information sharing and promotional session to include a preview of the new CYSUR Threshold and eligibility support document and the next phase of Multiagency Safeguarding Training. In addition, we will also be hosting webinars on thematic lessons from child practice reviews in Wales & a thematic review of safeguarding adult reviews. Alongside these events will be input from third sector and independent groups with events from SHINE, NSPCC and the Children's Society.

MYTH BUSTING IN INFORMATION SHARING IN MULTI-AGENCY SAFEGUARDING WORK

Microsoft Teams, 2:00pm-4:00pm

Presenter: Dai Durbridge

This online event will provide engaging training on information sharing, with a particular focus on:

2:00pm

- Data protection legislation within the context of safeguarding, with links to regional and national CPR's in Wales.
- Exploration of the barriers to information sharing – What prevents professionals passing on information both to social care and exchanges between agencies when there are worries.
- Focus upon grey area's where there are worries and emerging concerns, but where it is not clear the threshold for significant harm has been reached.
- A look at consent. When is it ok to share without consent? The webinar will tackle some of the myths about this.

Listen Up, Speak Up Workshop—NSPCC

Microsoft Teams, 4:15pm-5:15pm

Presenter: Lil Dunn (NSPCC)

Half a million children suffer abuse and neglect a year in the UK. But there's something we can all do to change that. We know that, with the right support, every child can be kept safe. We can stop abuse, and even prevent it from happening. But to do this, we need to work together. Even if children aren't a big part of your everyday life, you'll still share a community with them – whether that's on your street, your commute or at the shops. Knowing how to speak up for them is essential.

4:15pm

Listen up, Speak up training will:

- help you understand how to listen and speak up on behalf of children
- show you who to contact if you're concerned about a child or need support yourself
- empower you to support children in your community.

Welsh Women's Aid—Speaker: Ann Williams

This session aims to offer reassurance that the Helpline is there to support everyone: victim survivors directly, their friends and family and professionals. Support given to professionals is two way in that we offer advice and suggestions for signposting, refuge availability etc but also some workers may be affected by what they've seen or heard and will need to have that confidential offload. It's critical that disclosures are not ignored as we know the results of this can be catastrophic but neither should your colleagues be expected to deal with these without support. That's where the Helpline can help.
